

Courion is the leader in identity and access management (IAM) solutions that focus on access risk management. Over 14 million users in 500 organizations worldwide rely on Courion's access risk management solutions to effectively and securely align user access privileges with corporate and regulatory governance policies. Our comprehensive implementation methodology combines best practices of business consulting and system implementation disciplines – driving an organization's deployment process from inception to production rollout and beyond.

"Identity and Access Management: A New, Less Excruciating Approach"

January 10, 2012

Courion President and CEO,
Christopher Zannetos

"Cloud Computing Hides Big Issues in Corporate Data Sharing"

February 17, 2012

Courion VP of Strategy and Corporate Development, Kurt Johnson

"Courion Positioned in Leaders
Quadrant of Two 2011 Security
Magic Quadrant Reports by Leading Analyst Firm"

January 3, 2012

"Survey Reveals Need for Real-Time Identity and Access Intelligence"

February 7, 2012

With its out-of-the-box functionality and best practices based on hundreds of successful implementations, the Courion Access Risk Management Suite of solutions delivers the industry's fastest time to value and lowest total cost of ownership with the intelligence to identify, quantify and manage the risks associated with information access.

With an automated, policy-driven user access platform, Courion helps customers leverage intelligence to make informed decisions about their business.

By integrating IAM functions such as identity and access governance, access certification, user provisioning and password management, customers are able to quickly achieve operational efficiency, reduce costs, enhance security and streamline compliance with the ability to respond immediately and automatically to on-going business changes.

Access Insight™ the industry's first access intelligence solution, applies predictive analytics to manage people, asset and security risks, showing organizations not only where their access risk resides, but the level of risk as well.

CourionLive™, Courion's cloud-based, Software as a Service (SaaS) version of Courion's Access Risk Management Suite offers the production-ready delivery of pre-configured, commercially available security products for full scale implementation with low startup, operational and maintenance costs.

Courion's expertise extends across all industries, working closely with customers worldwide in healthcare, banking and finance, education, energy, government, insurance, manufacturing, retail and other industries, ultimately ensuring that the right people have the right access to the right information and are doing the right things.

To learn more about what we're doing and what people are saying about us, visit our Company Press Room and Resource Center at www.courion.com.